OVERVIEW:

This webinar is specifically designed for sexual assault forensic nurses who are seeking an introductory overview of what is known about persons who commit sex offenses and “what works” to reduce and manage re-offense risk. During this webinar, participants will learn more about:

- Myths and misperceptions about those who perpetrate sexual offenses, and what is known about this population;
- Risk factors linked to reoffending;
- Specialized treatment, supervision, and other offense-specific strategies and the effectiveness of these approaches; and
- The importance of victim-centeredness as a fundamental principle of sex offender management efforts.
