

Violence and Gender

Editor-in-Chief: Mary Ellen O'Toole, PhD

Call for Papers on Bullying Across the Lifetime Spectrum: K–12, University, Adulthood, Elderly

Deadline for manuscript submission: October 3, 2017

Violence and Gender is seeking high quality research on the topic of bullying to publish in the spring 2018 issue. The journal is especially interested in studies that examine bullying in various age groups as well as manuscripts on how bullying can escalate to further violence.

The journal will consider Research Articles, Reviews, Perspectives, and Commentaries on the on the following topics:

- How bullying leads to violence
- Workplace violence
- The role of bullying in universities and K-12 school settings
- Microaggressions
- Bullying as used by influential persons of certain academic, political, or social groups and the effects
- Bullying and social media
- Impact of climate on bullying/violence and vice versa
- Genesis of bullying
- Parental bullying and copycat behavior

Deadline for manuscript submission: October 3, 2017

Advantages of publishing in Violence and Gender include:

- Rapid, high-quality peer review
- Maximum exposure: accessible in 170 countries worldwide
- Open Access options available

For manuscript submission guidelines and further information about the Journal, please visit the Violence and Gender website. We look forward to receiving your manuscripts and to your active participation in the Journal!

SUBMIT TODAY

EMAIL TO A COLLEAGUE